She started in with real zest on the morning's program. The day was des-tined, however, to prove one of those when everything goes awry. It began by Mrs. Judy, the washwoman, not ar-riving until Mrs. Kenyon had given her up. The clothes were in soak, and sun and breeze were all ready to dry them;

but no clothes to hang out.
"What shall I do?" said poor Mrs. Kenyon to herself when 10 o'clock struck. "She couldn't possibly finish before lunch now, and some of the ironing will have to be left till tomorrow. That means putting it off till Water. That means putting it off till Wednes-day, for I must do my shopping. I suppose I shall have to do the towels and underclothes myself; and I had better
